External Internship Stipend Programs

Would you like to be paid while you intern? Some foundations and organizations have programs that fund students who obtain an unpaid internship. Did you know that most of these programs often will assist you in finding the internship? You don’t always have to have an internship to apply.

Disclaimer: Deadlines and stipend information are subject to change. Students should confirm on the website of each individual stipend program. Look through the entire list since several programs apply to a variety of majors and should also look on their own for other potential programs not listed here.

If you are interested in applying for any of awards that require an essay, letter of recommendation etc. you are encouraged to contact intern@brooklyn.cuny.edu to see how the internship team can be of assistance. Students should also use the Learning Center for assistance with any written documents.

The Magner Career Center also has stipends for students who are participating in an unpaid internship. Learn more at:
